The test oil well being put down by the citizens of North Greenfield has reached a depth of 800 feet. The well is inside the corporation limits about 300 yards from the square. The citizens are very hopeful and feel assured that they will find oil in paying quantities. The report that the flowing wells of water had ceased running there during the dry season is denied.

Reports of the examinations of Findlay, Kenton, Wellsville, Wellston and Alliance were made to the state auditor Thursday. In all except Findlay, it was found that the mayors had retained fees in city cases contrary to the code. In Kenton, Mayor Southard is shown to have retained fees amounting to $126.00. In Wellsville, Mayor Fogo retained $139.75. In Alliance the mayor retained $344.00, and the chief of police $143.30.

"Sometimes it is the parents' fault; they try to shield their children who have been staying away from school," said Truant Officer Willis Polley, after corraling two youngsters Friday morning. Officer Polley says that as the holiday season grows apace youngsters get the restless feeling notwithstanding that a week free from school is near. There have been fewer cases of truancy reported this year than ever before.

Friday's Sidney Daily News says: "Wm. A. Perry, to whom John Longlin made an assignment, has declined to act as assignee. A meeting of the creditors of Mr. Longlin was held here this week and it was decided to select two trustees to act. Wm. A. Perry and Wm. A. Graham were selected as trustees. It is not known yet whether the Mary L. Poultry plant will be operated or not, but is closed down for the present."

Mr. Geo. T. Brandon received a nice Christmas present from S. S. Campbell, cashier of the Merchants' Bank of North City, in the shape of a $5 note, an old state bill of the date of 1850, upon which was engraved a likeness of Mrs. Brandon's grandfather, John J. Palmer, who was for many years associated with this institution. It is the only likeness of Mr. Palmer in possession of the family and consequently is highly prized.

William Alexander, 72, a pioneer resident of Marysville, was found dead in bed at his home there Saturday morning. Deceased was the old-timer of the late James Alexander, who conducted an old tavern near Marysville in the early days and operated a line of stages between Columbus and Belmonte. There are four children living, one being Taylor Alexander, of West Mansfield. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2.

Edna Shepard, the West Liberty girl arrested in Xenia on the charge of grand larceny, was admitted to bond in the sum of $300 Thursday. The bond was furnished by Probate Judge Shoop, of Greene county. The latter was unacquainted with the girl, who seemed to be lacking utterly in comprehension of the seriousness of her case and her appeal and that of her mother so touched the probate judge that he furnished the bond. The girl and her mother immediately left Xenia for their home near West Liberty.

George Harris, a bell boy at the Arcade hotel, was arraigned in police court yesterday on the charge of grand larceny. Harris is alleged to have secured possession of a diamond ring valued at $200, the property of Rev. W. C. Kendall, the man who was removed from the hotel to the hospital Wednesday evening, with an attack of ptomaine poisoning. Harris, it will be remembered, pawned the ring and had gotten as far as Urbana before he was placed under arrest. The lad says he found the ring in the snow at the Fountain avenue entrance to the hotel. He pleaded not guilty and the case was set for hearing on next Wednesday morning.—Springfield Sun.

Postmaster J. Q. A. Campbell has received orders from the post office department to receive bids for a new location for the Belmonte postoffice.

For a long time the present location of the postoffice in the Opera Block, Court street, have been inadequate for the rapidly increasing business. As the city is rapidly growing it has been deemed necessary by the Assistant Postmaster General to order that bids be received for a new location. It is said that the rooms at present occupied by the post office have been already spoken for by a grocery firm.

Five hundred dollars a year are paid by the government for the present post office location. It is said that there is talk among local business men of erecting a new building in which the post office will be located. It is said that a large number of bids will be received. A central location is favored.

FEB. 1

Solid Rural Mail Delivery

Goes Into Effect in Logan County.

NEW CARRIERS

Will Be Announced Very Soon.

The Various New Routes Are Described.—Number of Patrons Served.

From the postoffice department at Washington has come word of the appointment of William Huber as mail messenger between the railroads and the postoffice. Mr. Huber has been working temporarily in the place of his father, John Huber, who recently tendered his resignation as messenger.

Each of the mail carriers, both city and rural, were remembered by Postmaster and Mrs. J. Q. A. Campbell. The carriers each received a large stocking filled with oranges, candies and nuts. In each stocking was also a toy.

Postmaster Campbell has received word from the department that starting on February 1, the solid free rural mail delivery will go into effect in Logan county. The description is as follows: Length of routes, 24%, 25%, 25% and 24 miles; population served, 2,364. East Liberty, Logan county, length of route, 27% miles; population served, 576. Lewistown, Logan county, length of route, 24 miles, population served, 610. Zanesfield, Logan county, length of route, 24% miles; population served, 513.

The postmaster has also received word that the names of the 36 rural carriers to be appointed over the county will soon be announced. It will be remembered that a civil service examination was conducted here recently which was taken by a large number of applicants for the positions of carriers.

"Well, you've caught me," said Ed Fonty to Bartender Charles Plummer, in the Cranston saloon, west Chillicothe avenue, at about 1:30 Saturday morning when caught behind the bar of the saloon. Later both Ed and George Fonty were arrested by Patrolman Hartman, Kennedy and McClure and are now in jail.

The police believe that in the capture of Ed Fonty they have the man who is at the bottom of the several petty robberies that have been annoying the department for the past month, the last being the rifling of the cash register in the Wonders, Weldinger & Co. meat market, Opera street, when eight dollars in money was secured. The story of the attempted looting of the Cranston place Saturday morning is somewhat unusual.

Charles Plummer, the bartender, had been in Dayton on business. He returned to this city on the late Big Four train and at once repaired to the saloon, intending to spend the night there as it was raining too hard for him to go home. When he entered the place he beheld Ed Fonty in his shirt sleeves behind the bar. The cash register was partly open. Fonty wanted to get away but was conducted by Mr. Plummer to the front door. It was the intention to hand Fonty over to Officer McClure, who was at the depot, but he broke away from Plummer and ran. George Fonty had been noticed standing in front of the place and he is regarded by the police as an accessory and was arrested at his home. Ed Fonty was quickly captured.

Entrance to the saloon was made in almost identical the same manner as in the Wonders, Weldinger & Co. meat market. A panel in a rear door was smashed and so narrow was the opening that Fonty was obliged to take off his coat to crawl through.

The Indian is a better citizen in all ways than some we are taking in from southern Europe and arming against us with the vote, justly declares the Brooklyn Eagle. May he live for a thousand years and forget the injuries we have done to him.

Women in a Massachusetts town actually have compelled the street railroad company to increase the number of cars at busy hours by refusing to pay fares when they could get no seats. There are some things that women can do better than men.

Chicago is going to establish a "clearing house" for the entertainment of commercial visitors. This, it is thought, will be much more effective and much less painful than the old method of letting the footpads have their own way.

A Chicago grand jury has recommended the passage of more stringent laws for the punishment of highwaymen. What is really needed is a more strenuous campaign for their capture.

E. M. Day, editor of the Huntsville News, was here today enroute to Agusta, Ky., for a few days' stay.

SISTER DEAD.

Justice Huber Receives a Sad Message From Indiana.

Justice of the Peace D. J. Huber Sunday evening received a message from Huntington, Indiana, announcing the death of his sister, Mrs. Mary Triebbaum, in that city. Deceased was aged about 73 years. Several children survive. The funeral services will be held in Springfield Tuesday morning at ten o'clock. Interment in Springfield cemetery.

PICTURE EXHIBITION.

H. K. Turner, of Boston, will have a picture exhibition in the United Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening and Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings. The pictures are copies in colors of the old masters. Admission to the exhibition will be ten cents.

DEATH'S HARVEST

Gathers in Edwin C. Roebuck After a Lingering Illness.

Edwin C. Roebuck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Roebuck, passed away at the family home on west Sandusky avenue Saturday evening, December 24, 1904, after a lingering illness from the effects of dread tuberculosis. Mr. Roebuck until a few years ago was in the most robust health. As a lad sickness was unknown but just as he was entering into manhood the fingers of disease fastened themselves upon him and all that medical science could do availed nothing against the common enemy of us all and he grew rapidly worse until his death.

Edwin was born in Belmonte June 16, 1883. He attended the local schools and was a member of the Methodist church and Sunday school whose services he regularly attended. He was also associated with Will Riddle Camp Sons of Veterans. About four years ago Mr. Roebuck went to Detroit to pursue a special course of study. He was then recuperating from an attack of pneumonia from which he never fully recovered. He fought off the encroaching disease of the throat and lungs but no headway was gained. On October 13 last, together with his mother and brother, he started for New Mexico in hopes of being benefited by the climate. A stop was made at Las Vegas but the altitude being too high the party went on to Albuquerque.

Mr. Roebuck was attacked with hemorrhages which so weakened him that it was the advice of his physician that he be taken home. He reached here Monday night, December 19, and lingering until Saturday evening at 8:15 o'clock he passed away. He seemed to realize that the end for him was near and although there was a faint hope in his mind that he would recover still he was resigned to whatever fate was his and in the presence of those he loved who had done so much for him, whispered "His will, not mine, be done. I put my faith in the Lord." He waited so patiently for the arrival of a belated train carrying his sister and when asked what message he would leave for her in case he did not see her, replied "Tell her all is well." These beautiful thoughts bring great comfort to the sorrowing family which finds little to console them at a time when they have been called upon to give up one in whom all their interest was centered and for whose welfare everything in their power had been done.

Edwin Roebuck was a young man of many friends. He was a kind disposition. He continually sought some means of displaying his affection for his parents, brothers and sister and his first thought was always for them. Generous hearted, honest, straightforward and of splendid habits he had a bright prospect for a successful future but death stepped in and claimed him just as he was entering into manhood. His friends are deeply touched over his untimely taking away but there remains a pleasant memory of his faithfulness while in life that will long remain with them.

Mr. Roebuck had for years been a member of Reymers' City Band and the musicians of this organization will attend the funeral in a body and will act as an escort without music.

Persons desiring to view the remains may call at the home between 10 and 12 o'clock Tuesday morning. Private funeral services will be held at two o'clock in charge of Rev. Jesse Swank. Interment in Belmonte cemetery.

The Prayer Perfect.
Dear Lord, kind Lord,
Gracious Lord, I pray
Thou wilt look on all I love,
Tenderly to-day!
Weed their hearts of weariness;
Scatter every care
Down a wake of angel-wings
Winnowing the air.

Bring unto the sorrowing
All release from pain;
Let the lips of laughter
Overflow again.
And with all the needy
O divide, I pray,
This vast treasure of content
That is mine to-day!
—James Whitcomb Riley, in Reader's Magazine.

A St. Mary's turkey gobbler has succumbed. He deliberately flew near the top of the inclosure, in which he was being fattened, placed his neck between the pallings and "let all hold go." The gobbler was dead in a very short time, making no effort whatever to release himself.

POOR

Of Bellefontaine Dined

As Guests of Salvation Army.

LITTLE FOLKS

Ate to their Fill at the Feast.

Untiring Effort of the Willing Workers Does Much Good to Worthy Ones.

The worthy poor of Bellefontaine were given a dinner in the basement of the Memorial hall at noon Monday by the members of the Salvation Army. It is estimated that at least two hundred people, the majority being children, took advantage of the kindness of the Salvationists and sat down to the feast. All the good things of the season were served and before the feast a member of the Army gave thanks. After the dinner baskets of food, clothing and presents were given to those in need.

Captain and Mrs. McEldey should have the help and appreciation of all for the good work and the cheer of this holiday season they have brought to countless barren homes.

TOT

Found by Police Without Friends.

ATHUNTSVILLE

She Had Been Visiting an Aunt.

Child Noticed Crying in a Depot at Springfield, Ohio.

The police were asked to take care of Hazel Olentine, aged 9, who was found at the Big Four depot yesterday at 10:30 by Policeman Dunnigan. When the officer first noticed the little girl, she was alone in the room and crying. She told the policeman that she lived in Ohio but had been visiting an aunt at Huntsville who had sent her to visit relatives by the name of Flater residing near Clifton.

The little girl said that the Flaters had agreed to meet her at the depot and take her to the country, but so far had not put in an appearance. Attempts were made to reach the Flater family by telephone, but no answer could be secured. The girl stayed with a woman by the name of Miss Strober, 200 south Limestone street, last night. She will probably reach the home of the Flaters today.—Springfield Sun, Sunday.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

New Evidence Introduced.

No one seems to appreciate its value more than Hon. John P. Weaver, of Rushsylvania, who says that half a dozen bottles of The Common Sense Catarrh Cure cured him completely of catarrh of nose and throat some five years ago and there are no returning symptoms. He since enjoys good health which he did not before. Very naturally Mr. Bower does not hesitate to recommend this remedy, which speaks well for The Common Sense Drug Manufacturing Company, lately incorporated, to which reference was made in this paper some weeks ago.

Let the good work go on. It is now sold by all druggists.

Rev. W. C. Kendall, who it is claimed was robbed of a $300 diamond ring by George Harris, formerly of this city, in a Springfield hotel, claims he was suffering from ptomaine poisoning contracted in a Columbus restaurant. The police claim, however, that he was suffering from something else.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cost and Mr. John Cost, of Cincinnati, were here Sunday guests of their father, Mr. John P. Cost.
